

About Cigna Europe

Cigna Europe, part of Cigna Corporation, is a leading global provider of health, life, accident and supplemental health insurance. Cigna Europe covers individuals, and corporate clients, as well as governmental organisations in various European markets. Business lines are based in Antwerp, London, Glasgow and Madrid while the European shared service centre is located in Glasgow and the insurance companies are headquartered in Brussels.

Present in Belgium since 1980, Cigna has recently experienced a strong organic and inorganic growth and is looking to strengthen its Actuarial Pricing department in our Antwerp office with the addition of one actuarial analyst who will be offered the chance to gain experience in an international team of experts composed of highly skilled professionals.

Function

This role offers the opportunity to enhance Actuarial Pricing expertise with a wide range of activities and product lines in an international context.

It will aim to provide actuarial support in the following fields:

- Expansion of existing pricing into new international markets
- Support the development, testing and documentation of Actuarial models for ongoing pricing optimisation
- Support and advise Underwriting and the business in relation to pricing case referrals
- Update Claim and Loss Ratio projections for financial planning and forecasting
- Test the adequacy of premium rates and profitability to help make recommendations for future price changes
- Preparation of actual to expected Loss Ratio experience to understand business drivers
- Preparation of experience studies to enhance pricing optimisation

Profile

- Bachelor or Master degree in scientific subject, graduating with a Master in Actuarial sciences
- At least 2 years Industry experience. Pricing experience preferred
- Fluent in English (written and spoken)
- Good knowledge of MS Office, Visual Basic and R is a plus
- Self-motivated and solutions-oriented

We offer

You will work for a forward thinking and progressive organisation in an international environment with many opportunities for gaining experience in Actuarial Pricing.

Interested?

Please send your CV to andy.gregson@cigna.com